STATEMENT-

My recent painting themes center around representational landscapes, nature imagery, and still life. I paint in oil and watercolor and have been passionate about both media for many years. Typically, I begin painting from life, where it is essential to make important compositional decisions and color notes. In the second stage, I often finish using my recollection of the subject. For me, this has produced imagery less tied to the literal. I never tire of the challenge each painting presents and how it develops my awareness of the world around me.
